

The Do Not Call List should be tightened - not relaxed. Even in NJ where we have a stricter law, the telemarketers are slowly finding ways to beat the system and make calls to those on the list. This is an invasion of our privacy and is not the way a free society should allow business to operate. This amounts to forced acceptance of advertising and coercive sales practices. I should be free in my own home to accept or decline these calls. Do not weaken NJ's Do Not Call rules. I will remember when I vote.
